*We may be defined as accountants
but being accountants is not what defines us. What defines us is being conversationalists,
with talent and skill
to benefit our clients.*

ABOUT US

Since 1994, we have been delivering trusted professional services to successful individuals and businesses, large and small, in the UK and beyond. Our clients range from SME's, individual professionals, high net worth individuals and companies from start-up to $500m multi-nationals and international family offices.

What makes us different from most firms our size is that our experts span multiple of disciplines in one integrated engagement and client journey.

We may be defined as accountants but being accountants doesn't define who we are.

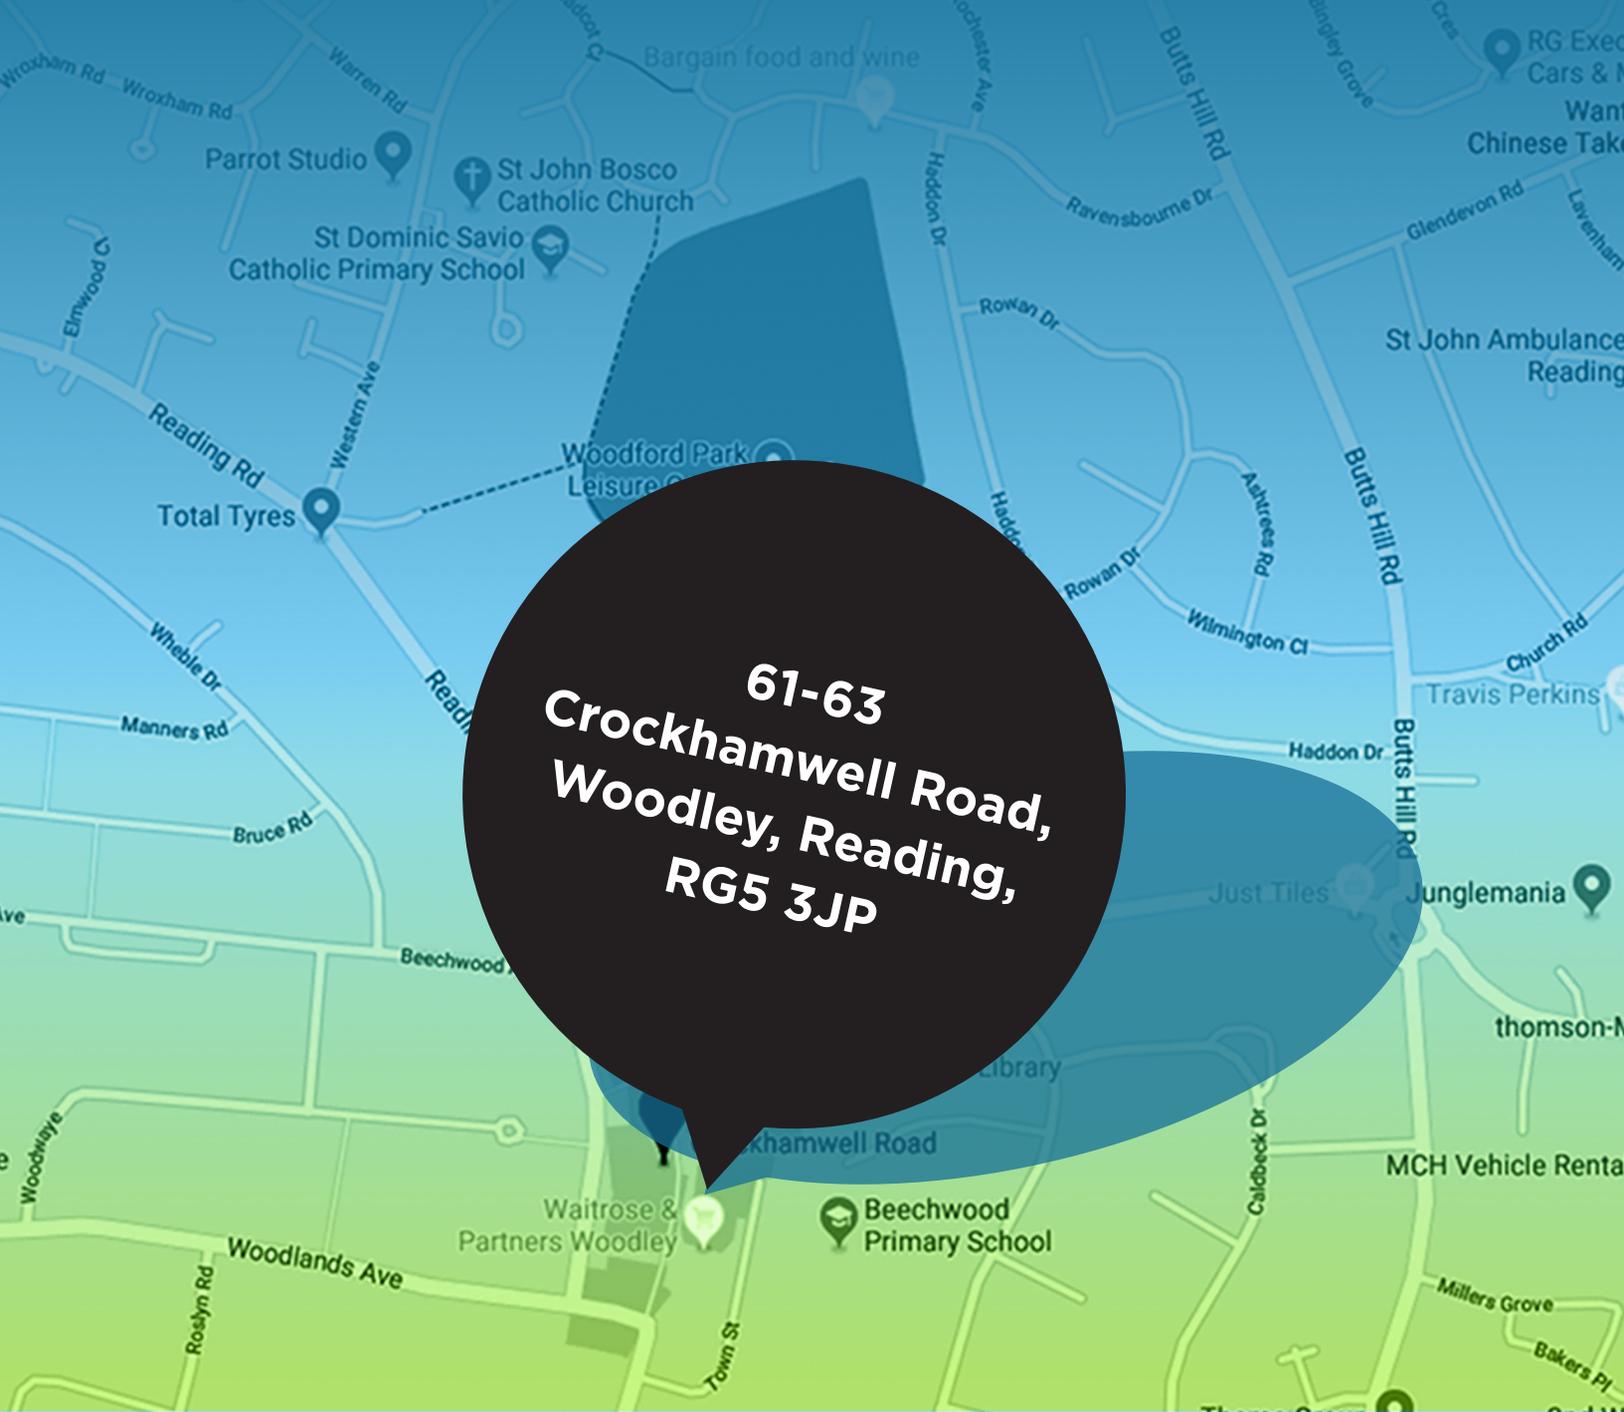

By having access to our experts, you are able to have conversations today that create the best solutions to make a difference not just for today but for the future as well.

Inchmead is a multi-discipline firm headquartered in Reading along the London/M4 corridor, with a range of tailored solutions focused on client needs that go beyond delivering services to providing a client experience, journey, and conversations to be enjoyed.

As an organisation, we are big enough to handle the challenges but as a multi-discipline firm lead by Graham Arnott, our Managing Partner and CEO, we are agile enough to engage with clients and meet their needs rapidly.

One firm, multiple experts, multiple disciplines. One client journey.

LET'S HAVE A CONVERSATION.

LET'S HAVE A CONVERSATION

We are always looking for experienced sole or small practitioners, newly qualified or career movers to join Inchmead.

SOLE PRACTITIONERS

*It's one thing attracting a big client.
A whole new devil managing them.*

As a sole practitioner or a small firm, casting your net for a bigger client comes with its own set of worries. One of them being whether you'll be able to offer the support and resources to manage the expectations, or not.

However, what if there was a way to continue enjoying the agility of working as a small unit, and yet avail the perks of being part of a bigger team? A team that's been delivering trusted accounting and multi-discipline services to clients across the spectrum since 1994.

At Inchmead, you'll be joining a firm comprising multidisciplinary professionals spanning the entire course of a client journey. Allowing you to benefit from our credibility, training, facilities as well as support to take on bigger, meaner clients.

Stay nimble. Appear credible. To learn more, visit inchmead.com/join-us

NEWLY QUALIFIED PROFESSIONALS

Now that you're qualified and ready to sign your first client, all you need is everything else.

From buying the right software, setting up and managing websites, gaining access to technical literature, getting all the regulation and AML supervision you need – the cost and processes of setting your own practice can be tedious timetraps between you and your new clients.

Many of us at Inchmead have been through the same hoops, and tripped at the same hurdles. Which is why we thought it was best to band together under a single firm. A firm that's been delivering trusted accounting and multi-discipline services to clients across the spectrum since 1994.

Once you're a part of Inchmead, we'll help you navigate the client journey with support from some of the best multidisciplinary professionals. Making you more efficient and more credible to your new clients. So you can focus on the services you're good at, and continue to build your client base.

We're here for your everything else. To learn more, visit inchmead.com/join-us

CAREER MOVERS

*None of the corporate targets.
All of the corporate perks.*

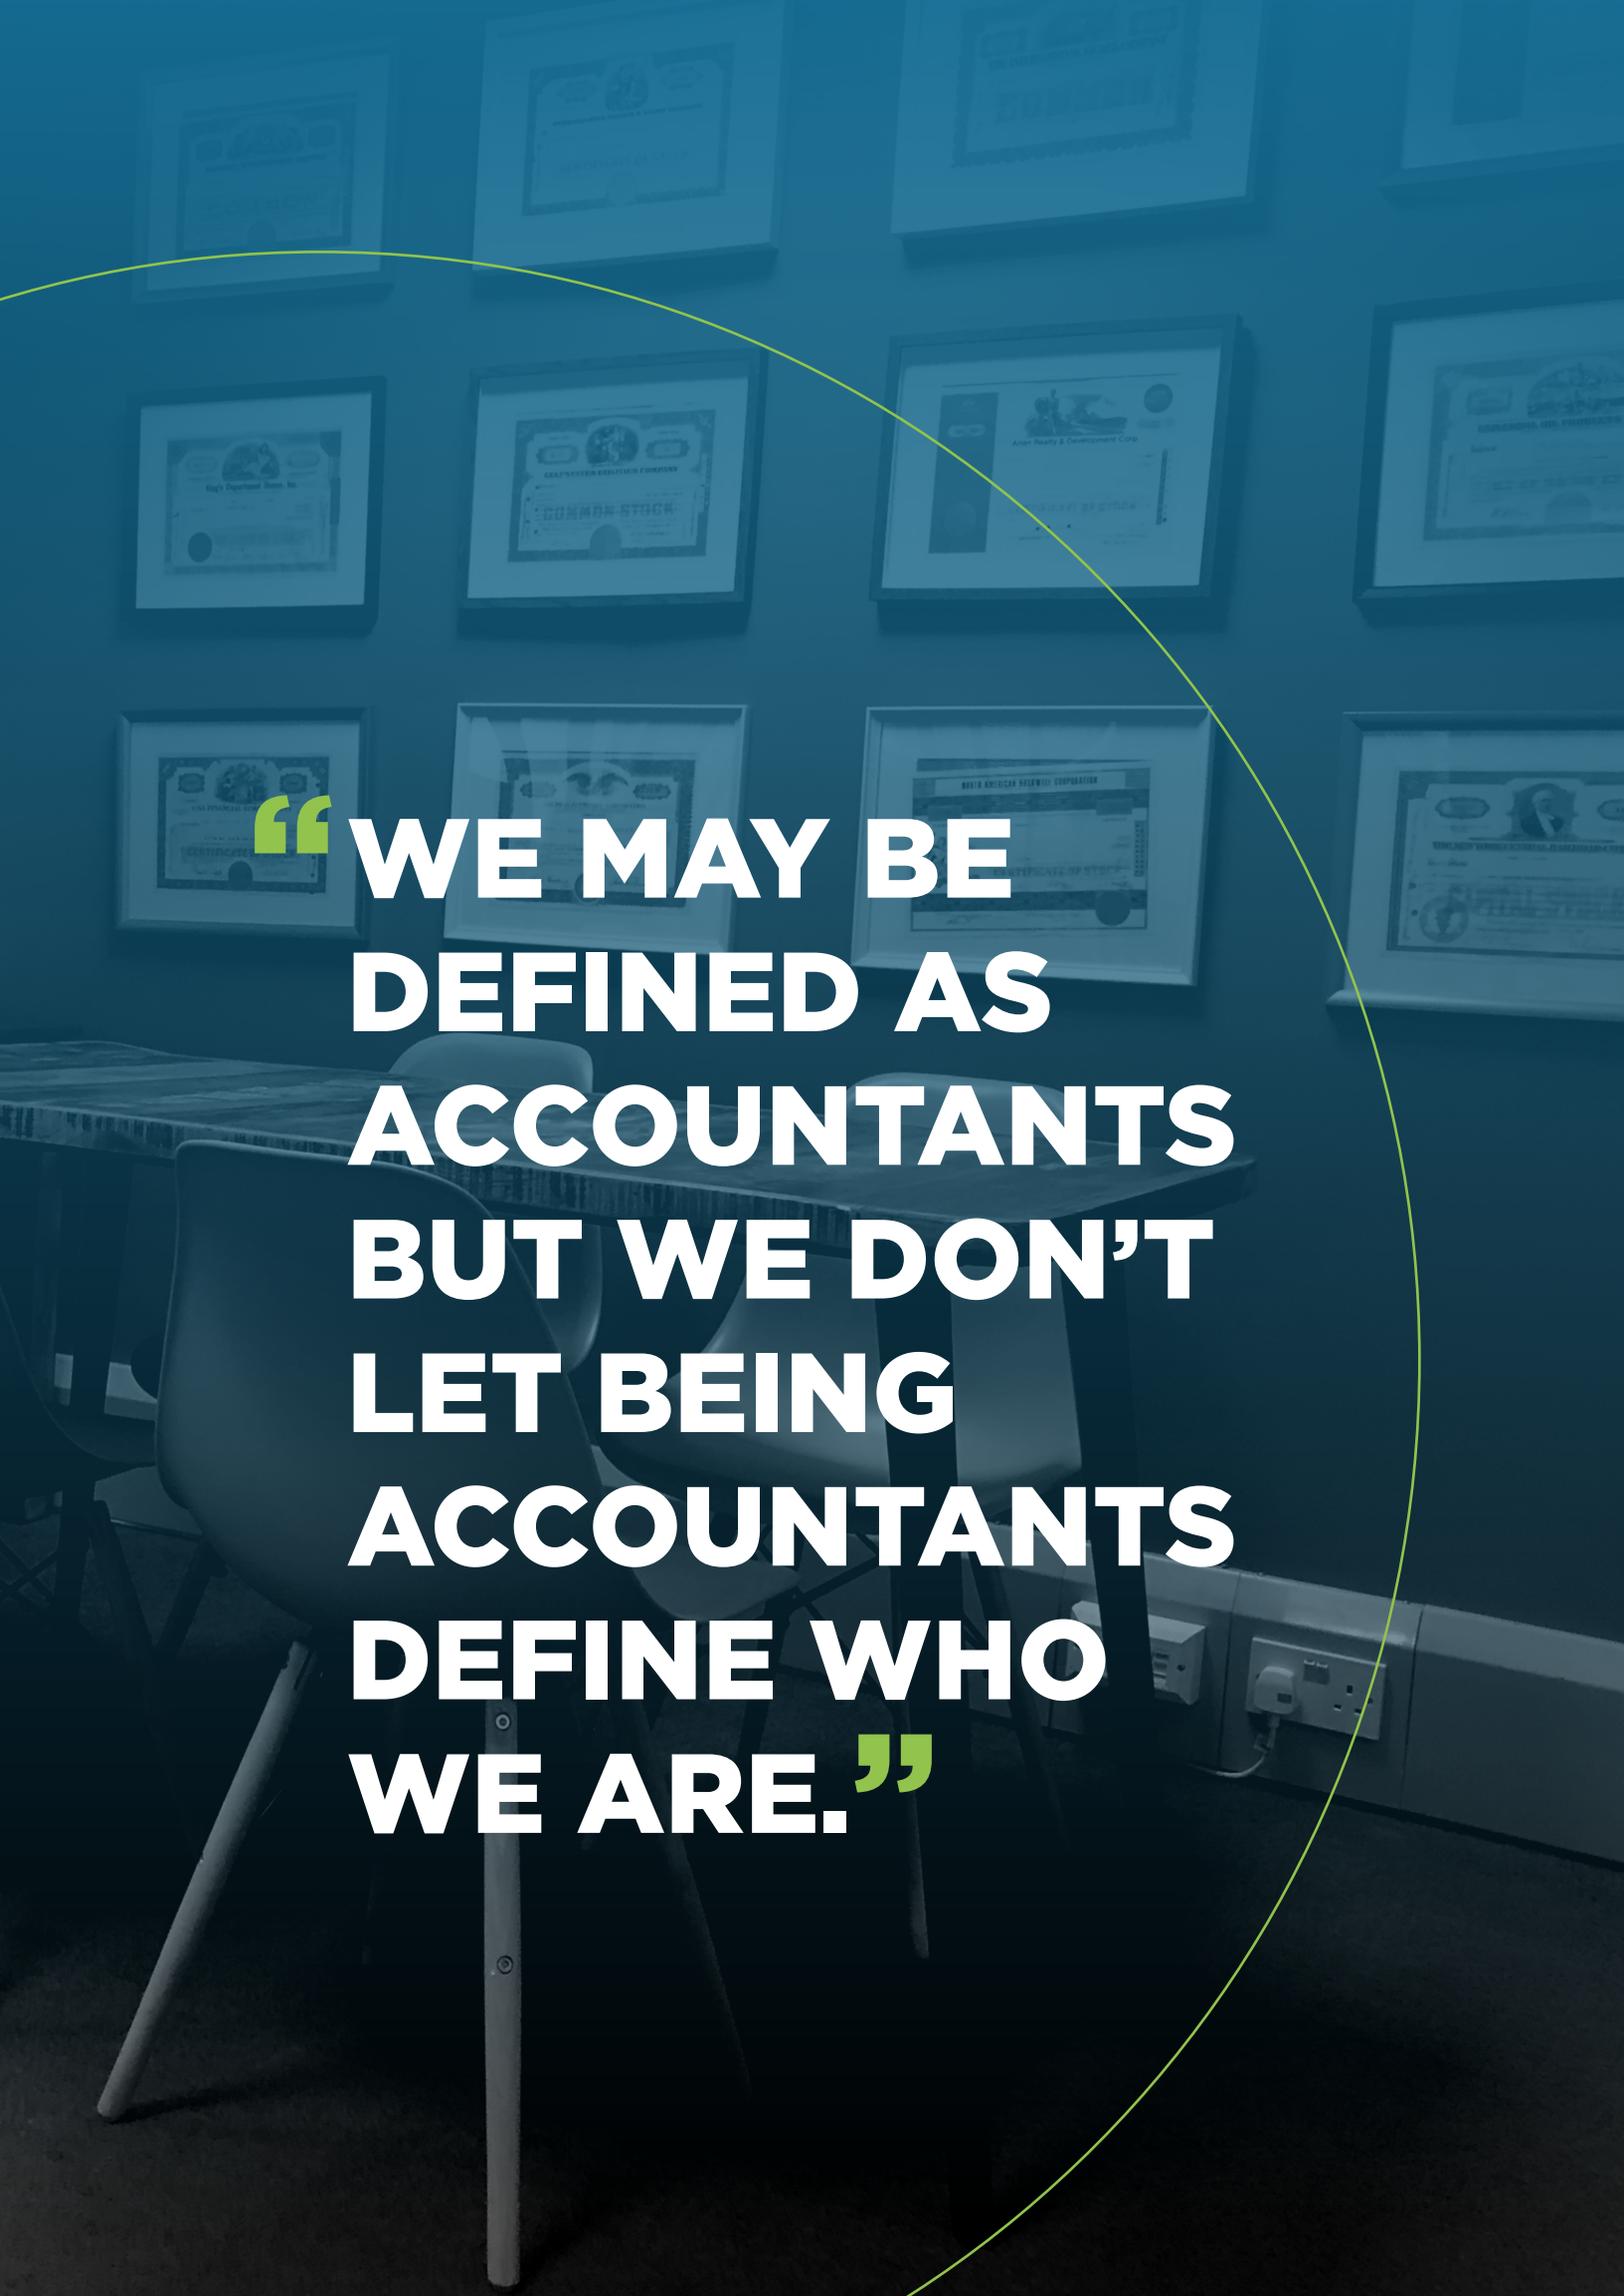

This is what your next career move could potentially be like: where you get to decide your work schedule, your fee rate, your scope of work, your targets, and of course which days you choose the work desk and which ones you spend on a hammock.

At Inchmead, many of us did the corporate rigour long enough to come up with a way to do it better. It's like we took the best bits from our previous workplaces and alchemized them into a single firm. A firm that's been consistently delivering trusted accounting and multi-discipline services to clients across the spectrum since 1994.

Once you're a part of Inchmead, you'll be a Partner at a credible, multi-disciplinary firm that has both the capabilities and experience spanning the entire course of a client journey.

A place where the only person you report to – is you.

Work made less corporate, and more professional.

TESTIMONIALS

I was so impressed with the team at Inchmead. They were the only logical choice for my investment transactions, security trust, and investor liaison.

*JD

Graham and the team at Inchmead delivered where everyone else we approached failed. They found the solution and delivered all the services we needed, in one place under one engagement.

We have been working with Inchmead for the last year. As a majority of our work is delivered outside the UK, we trade predominantly in Euros. Inchmead are business savvy UK auditors who time and time again, come up with innovative solutions. Graham is extremely pragmatic and open minded, a great asset to have around in a high-risk commercial situation as he makes sensible, business focussed suggestions. We use Inchmead for their accountancy skills but also their wider business advice. We are delighted with the service we receive, not only are they competitively priced but they offer us the assurance we need too.
